NOTICE TO CREDITORS
AND DEPOSITORS OF
PROGRESS BANK OF FLORIDA
TAMPA, FL

On October 22, 2010, Progress Bank of Florida (the "Failed Institution") was closed by the Florida Office of Financial Regulation and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation was appointed as receiver of the Institution (the "Receiver"). Under the laws of the United States, the Receiver is charged with the duty of winding up the affairs of the former Institution.

TO THE CREDITORS OF THE FAILED INSTITUTION

All creditors having claims against the Failed Institution must submit their claims in writing, together with proof of the claims, to the Receiver on or before January 23, 2011 (the "Claims Bar Date"). Claims may be submitted via the internet on the FDIC web site, by fax or by mail to the following address:

FDIC as Receiver of PROGRESS BANK OF FLORIDA
7777 Baymeadows Way West, Jacksonville, FL 32256
Attention: Claims Agent

You can obtain an official Proof of Claim form and instructions at www.fdic.gov or by calling (904) 256-3925.

Under federal law, failure to file a claim on or before the Claims Bar Date will result in disallowance of the claim by the Receiver. The disallowance will be final. 12 U.S.C. Section 1821(d)(5)(C).

NOTE TO CLASS CLAIMANTS: By law, the Receiver will not accept a claim filed on behalf of a proposed class of individuals or entities or a class of individuals or entities certified by a court. EACH individual or entity must file a separate claim with the Receiver.

TO THE DEPOSITORS OF THE FAILED INSTITUTION

The FDIC, which insures your deposits in its corporate capacity (the "FDIC"), arranged for the transfer of all deposits ("Deposits") - including the uninsured amounts - at the Failed Institution to another insured depository institution, BAY CITIES BANK TAMPA, FL 33607 (the "New Institution"). This arrangement should minimize any inconvenience from the closing of the Failed Institution. You may leave your Deposits in the New Institution, but you must take action to claim ownership of your Deposits.

Federal law, 12 U.S.C. Section 1822(e), requires you to claim ownership of ("claim") your Deposits at the New Institution by taking any of the following actions within 18 months from the Closing Date. If you have more than one account, your action in claiming your Deposit in one account will automatically claim your Deposits in all of your accounts.

1. Make a deposit to or withdrawal from your account(s). This includes writing a check on any account, having an automated direct deposit credited to or an automated withdrawal debited from any account or closing the account;
2. Execute a new signature card on your account(s), enter into a new deposit agreement with the New Institution, change the ownership on your account(s), or renegotiate the terms of your certificate of deposit account(s) (if any);
3. Provide the New Institution with a completed change of address form; or
4. Write to the New Institution and notify it that you wish to keep your account(s) active with the New Institution. Please be sure to include the name of the account(s), the account number(s), the signature of an authorized signer on the account(s) and a name and address.

Please be advised that Official Items issued by the Failed Institution, e.g., cashier's checks, dividend checks, interest checks, expense checks, and money orders are all considered to be Deposits and must be claimed within 18 months from the Closing Date.

If you do not claim ownership of your Deposits at the New Institution within 18 months from the Closing Date, federal law requires the New Institution to return your Deposits to the FDIC, which may be required to deliver them as unclaimed property to the State indicated in your address on the Failed Institution's records. 12 U.S.C. Section 1822(e). If your address is outside of the United States, the FDIC may be required to deliver the Deposits to the State in which the Failed Institution had its main office. If the State accepts custody of your Deposits, you will have 10 years from the date of delivery to claim your Deposits from the State. After 10 years, you will be permanently barred from claiming your Deposits.

If the State does not take custody of your Deposits after the 18-month period, you may claim your Deposits from the FDIC until the receivership of the Failed Institution is terminated. A receivership may be terminated at any time. Once the receivership terminates, you will not be able to claim your Deposits.

2. Execute a new signature card on your account(s), enter into a new deposit agreement with the New Institution, change the ownership on your account(s), or renegotiate the terms of your certificate of deposit account(s) (if any);
3. Provide the New Institution with a completed change of address form; or
4. Write to the New Institution and notify it that you wish to keep your account(s) active with the New Institution. Please be sure to include the name of the account(s), the account number(s), the signature of an authorized signer on the account(s) and a name and address.

Please be advised that Official Items issued by the Failed Institution, e.g., cashier's checks, dividend checks, interest checks, expense checks, and money orders are all considered to be Deposits and must be claimed within 18 months from the Closing Date.

If you do not claim ownership of your Deposits at the New Institution within 18 months from the Closing Date, federal law requires the New Institution to return your Deposits to the FDIC, which may be required to deliver them as unclaimed property to the State indicated in your address on the Failed Institution's records. 12 U.S.C. Section 1822(e). If your address is outside of the United States, the FDIC may be required to deliver the Deposits to the State in which the Failed Institution had its main office. If the State accepts custody of your Deposits, you will have 10 years from the date of delivery to claim your Deposits from the State. After 10 years, you will be permanently barred from claiming your Deposits.

If the State does not take custody of your Deposits after the 18-month period, you may claim your Deposits from the FDIC until the receivership of the Failed Institution is terminated. A receivership may be terminated at any time. Once the receivership terminates, you will not be able to claim your Deposits.
